"CHINA" goods are not what this community wants; but good articles at the lowest prices consistent with quality. Appreciating this fact fully, a stock of the finest groceries, with a small selection of men's furnishing goods and a few very fine "prints," are now offered to the public of Pioche at figures that defy competition throughout the state. This offer is made by one who has never yet failed to do as he advertised he would do—who makes it his whole study and his only labor to be the distributor of merchandise in his line. Everybody is invited to call. Poudjé has plenty of time to show his goods. Go whether you want to buy or not. It will not cost a cent to look at the prices and qualities of goods offered in the lines of groceries; fancy and staple, glassware, lamps, crockery, and fancy notions. Do not throw away money by paying fancy prices for common goods. Do not take flattery or "seeing it you" talk for money, but see that you get all of the best goods that your money will buy. You can always do this at Poudjé's. If you go there you will receive polite treatment, because that is due to everyone; and full value for your money if you wish to spend it with him, but no "tally" for anybody.

THE FACTS.—We learn the following facts in regard to the killing of Dutchy, and it came from such a source that we feel confident that such is the case: Dutchy had been contemplating going to Arizona, and had determined to steal a valuable horse from a man out at Desert Springs. During the night J. F. (Ben) Tasker and Ike Matthews, the owner of the horse, hearing a noise out in the stable, got up and went out to see what was the matter. As both men were watching, a man came riding on Ike's horse, and both Ike and Ben shot at him, putting five balls into Dutchy's body. This occurred on the 22d of January, and Dutchy died twenty-three hours after being shot, and was buried out near the station. Dutchy's name is Albert Ferdinand Engeking, and he is a deserter from Fort Cameron, Beaver, Utah. He came to Desert Springs about the middle of July last and has been stopping in that vicinity ever since. Dutchy was engaged in robbing a wagon loaded with Hillside bullion some time ago, and was perhaps the only man who knew the exact place where the bullion is buried. Desert Springs are situated in Iron county Utah, and not in Lincoln county, Nevada, as newspapers have stated.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.—A shooting affray occurred Monday night, about 12 o'clock, at Browns & Sparks' saloon, between F. C. Johnson and J. F. Reed, two cattle men. They had some words together, when they both drew their pistols and commenced turning them loose. Reed's pistol was out of working order, the pin on which the barrel revolved having dropped out, and after snapping it seven times he threw it down and closed in on Johnson. Johnson shot Reed four times—once in the breast, in the ribs, on the arm and in the back, but none of the wounds are serious, although the wound in the back troubles him a little. Reed also received a bad scalp wound from the blow of a pistol. Complaints were made against both parties by the District Attorney and the case will be ventilated by the Grand Jury. Reed will be able to be around in about fifteen days.

NOT KILLED.—We received a note from Robt. Logan, of St. Joseph, who states that Joseph Upaher, the man supposed to have been killed by McIntyre and McLane out in Pahranagat Valley, arrived at his place on or about the 16th of December and stepped at that place over night, leaving the next morning for Tombstone, Arizona, where he very probably now is. Mr. Logan also writes that there are three inches of snow in the valley at St. Joseph, a thing which has never been known to occur before, even within the recollection of the oldest inhabitant.

NOT WANTED.—Bob Bennett, that celebrated witness in the late murder trial who, like George Washington, "couldn't tell a lie," applied to the Court the past week for aid as an indigent witness, and among the items charged in the bill was expenses to return to Hiko. The Judge crossed this item out, remarking that Bennett did not want to go to Hiko, and leaving the impression that it would not be very healthy for Bennett to return to that place. We concur.

MACHINERY.—The machinery of the Bristol S. M. Company, for the mill, furnace and boring an artesian well, is now at the terminus of the Utah Southern railroad. The forwarding agents there have contracted to deliver it in Bristol this month, and it will put them to their mettle to do so.

THE MURDER TRIAL.

Both Prisoners Found Guilty of Murder in the First Degree.

Saturday last was consumed on this trial in putting witnesses on the stand for the defense of McIntyre, Judge Fuller making it his business, through these witnesses, to impeach two of the witnesses who had testified in favor of George W. McLane, Jr. He succeeded admirably, making them contradict themselves in a number of instances.

In the afternoon George McLane, Jr., by his own request, was placed upon the stand and made his statement. McIntyre, during Saturday evening, after McLane had completed his statement, took the stand and made a statement also, but it was the general impression that he held something back, and that something was the plot betwixt McLane and himself to do the deed. It becoming noised about that both of the defendants were to give their statements that evening crowds flocked to the Court-house, and half an hour previous to the opening of Court, the stairway and hall of the Court-house was so densely crowded with people that it was impossible for even the officers entitled to entrance to make their way in, they being forced to go by the rear entrance.

After the prisoners had finished their statements the Judge adjourned Court until Monday morning, giving notice that the arguments would commence then. The argument was commenced Monday morning by District Attorney C. H. Patchen, who reviewed the testimony, connecting it link by link as the chain of evidence to convict the defendants. Mr. Patchen made a very brilliant effort, which reflected much credit on him. A. B. O'Dougherty, attorney for McLane, followed the District Attorney, and made an argument of four hours duration, repeatedly going over the same ground. After Mr. O'Dougherty came Judge Fuller, counsel for McIntyre. He surprised his most intimate friends; making a strong and favorable impression in favor of his client by his reasoning and able argument on the evidence produced. Thompson Campbell, assistant to the prosecution, wound up the case with an argument of two hours in length. The instructions were then delivered by the Judge, and was considered by all as being very favorable to the prisoners, and at quarter of ten o'clock p. m. the case went to the jury. At half-past 11 o'clock they called on the Judge, when they again retired, and about 3 o'clock in the morning they returned into Court, bringing in a verdict of "murder in the first degree."

The Judge set Thursday, February 5th, as the day on which to sentence the prisoners, but on that day the counsel for defendants having asked the Court for time in which to file statements on a motion for a new trial, the sentences were deferred until Saturday (to-day), February 7th, at 10 o'clock a. m.

EXPLOSION AT WARD.—Through the kindness of A. Marx we are enabled to lay the following particulars before our readers of a fearful explosion at Ward. The letter was written twenty minutes to 6 a. m., and dated February 4th: "J. Myers & Bro: At about half-past 2 o'clock this morning there was a fearful explosion in the tunnel. One of the drills hit an unexploded giant powder charge in the face of the drift, when an explosion took place, killing Ira Logan instantly; in fact he was blown to pieces, and died without knowing what struck him. Dick Pilkerson was severely wounded and it is doubtful whether he will survive. His face is badly bruised and his nose gone. George Trowbridge is also badly hurt in the head and face, but it is thought that he is not dangerously wounded. Thos. Edwards had his shoulder, collarbone, and probably his arm, broken, but he is not dangerously injured and, with the assistance of Abe Travis, was able to walk home. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon Mrs. O'Brien who, immediately after the explosion, turned in washing and dressing the wounds of the injured men. The whole camp has been up since the first alarm was sounded and there is a great deal of excitement."

PROCEEDS OF MINES.—The following is the net yield and tax on the mines of Lincoln county, for the quarter ending December 31, 1879:

Mine	Net Yield	Tax
Alps Mine	$ 174 46	$ 5 95
Day	4,776 30	162 39
Desert	2,474 10	97 78
Hillside	6,877 86	199 58
Kennecott	69 12	3 25
Midnight	272 05	9 25
Mendha	12 17	41
National	150 50	5 40
Raymond & Ziegler	6,454 72	220 82
Meadow Valley	853 74	30 08
Southwestern	715 14	24 45
Great Unknown	1,601 90	54 45
Total Tax		$311 61

ANOTHER SUPPOSED VICTIM.—Dwight Eggleston, who arrived here from Pahranagat Thursday morning, reports that great excitement exists at Hiko and the valley on account of the horse, saddle, bridle and spurs of some unknown man being found, and the water in the well at Walbaums ranch bubbling up as if a body was in it, and the gas escaping from the body causing the bubbling. A search is being made of the well.

DIVORCED.—On Wednesday the divorce suit of Mrs. J. H. Langford against J. H. Langford came up in the District Court. The prayer of the petition for a divorce was granted, she being allowed the custody of all the children and a large share of the common property. These parties are residents of Panaca.

"The ignorance of counsel makes criminals." This was the observation made by one attorney to another in Court during the late trial. It was very applicable indeed to the party giving forth the sentiment; so the public think.

BRISTOL ITEMS.

The Hillside smelter will shut down next week. As it is a heavy expense in living it up and keeping it in repair the company intend tearing it down and putting in position their new water-jacket, which will be placed in running order as soon as possible. They have already ordered from San Francisco another water-jacket furnace, of fifty tons capacity, sections of which ought to arrive in twenty days.

As the cupelle furnaces of the Hillside Company have proven to be a perfect success additional facilities will soon be added, enabling the company to refine all their bullion, thus doing away with the tedious process of shipping by teams to the railroad.

The machinery of the Bristol Mining Company is awaiting transportation at the terminus of the Utah Southern. It is said to be the intention of this company to erect their mill adjoining the Hillside reduction works.

Work is being pushed ahead rapidly on the different mines at Blind Mountain, and cannot be long before it will be enrolled as no unenvied rival of its near neighbor, Bristol District.

Johnny Quinn's saloon has of late been the scene of nightly festivities. The boys tripped the light fantastic to the tune of two fiddles and a harp, minus the opposite sex.

The managers of the Bristol Mining Company are in town, having just arrived from the East.

Hillside mine shipped this week, in fine silver, two bars, valued at $4,994 13.

The brewery and Riepp's hotel are getting on towards completion.

A large amount of bullion is on the dump awaiting shipment.

The Bristol Mining Company paid off their employees on the 6th.

A great many teams in town, laden with grain on contract.

Hillside has levied an assessment of 30 cents.

The town lively the last few days.

EAGLE VALLEY, Feb. 1, 1879.

ED. RECORD: Our pedagogue says he will subscribe a life time (and pay at the close of subscription) for any paper that will publish the whereabouts the following mentioned boy. He strayed away from the bat coral in Eagle Valley last Monday morning, somewhat under these circumstances: The boy having violated one of the rules by sneaking, the teacher gave him a brand new knife and advised him to go to the swamp and out the healthiest willow he could find. The little "switch cutter" took the knife, and eyeing it closely, passed out as if deeply impressed. He closed the school-house door gently after him, and the teacher thought to himself: "That is a good boy. I will not punish him. I will only threaten him a little." The teacher went ahead with his bat-breaking while patiently awaiting the return of the reformed boy. At length, growing anxious and uneasy least some misfortune might befall his promising young charge, the teacher at once rushed excitedly to the door and pulled! and pulled! and pulled! and in vain did he continue to pull till, to his shocking surprise and chagrin, he discovered that the door was securely fastened from the outside. Suffices it to say, that neither that knife nor that boy have been seen by the irate teacher since. The teacher has spent all his spare moments in gathering and seasoning willows, when not engaged in scouring the country for that boy.

CITIZEN.

THE VERDICT.—The issue of the murder trial was discussed throughout the town Tuesday and the result seemed to give universal satisfaction, the sentiment being that Lincoln county had at last redeemed itself by finding murderers guilty. The counsel for the defendants will of course try to find some flaw in the case so as to appeal it to the Supreme Court, but we think they are not hopeful of any good resulting to their clients from such an appeal.

DAY MINES.—We learn from Nicholas Curry, foreman, that during the past week the east incline has been sunk 12 feet, making a total depth of 55 feet below the tunnel level; the southwest drift, from bottom of surface shaft, has been advanced 7 feet; the south drift, from open cut, has been pushed ahead 7 feet. At all points where work is being carried on the prospects are very encouraging.

IN TOWN.—Henry Dietze, who left here four years ago, returned here last Sunday. It was reported several times in Pioche that Dietze was deceased, but he has the appearance of a very healthy looking corpse. He has been ranging through the country where the Custer massacre took place and up near the British lines.

DECIDED.—On Tuesday the case of the Floral Springs Water Company vs. Lincoln county, for one-half repairs to water pipes, came up in the District Court, and the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the water company for the amount claimed.

REAPPOINTED.—Uncle Sam has reappointed Charley Mayers Postmaster at Pioche for the ensuing four years, so that he will continue to exercise the functions of the postoffice for that period, much to the pleasure of his friends.

The man you are looking for can be found at Panaca saloon.

SWILL MILK.—The attention of the Grand Jury was called by some citizens to the constant violation of the law known as "Cassidy's Swill Milk Bill," which is occurring around Pioche. Feeding cows on manure was specially spoken of. The Grand Jury could take no action on the matter but wish to inform those citizens who were complaining that the proper course is to go before the Justice of the Peace, make complaint, and in addition to having the parties punished, they will be entitled to one half of the fine.

Two brothers of Hank Sprague, of Pahranagat Valley, arrived here Sunday last. They propose visiting their brother at Pahranagat, whom they have not seen for twenty years. Both gentlemen are connected with the Bristol Company and came out here for the purpose of inspecting that property.

THERE will be a Chapter meeting of the Royal Arch Masons at their hall, Lascor street, on Thursday evening next.

RESIGNED.—L. J. Moore, better known as Mark Moore, is no longer Deputy Sheriff, he having resigned.
